A Message of Thanksgiving From the Property Manager

Each morning when I (Ivan) wake up, the first thing I do once I have coffee in hand is open up my journal and write my first heading of the day: "I am Grateful for..."

I then sip my coffee for a few minutes to determine what am I truly grateful for... Often, I am thankful for the relationships I have and the qualities of the people in my personal life.

But many times I must admit that I am most grateful for the opportunity to do what I love... What I love about my job is that I am tasked with providing housing to families and asset management to investors. Both of these roles involve serving people and adding value to the community.

So please accept a massive "Thank You" from me as your property manager for this wonderful opportunity and the best job ever!
